ADrive.com is a corporation located in the United States, founded in 2007, which uses cloud storage to provide online backup, file sharing, and online data storage[1] . ADrive's browser-based file manager is compatible with Windows, Linux and Mac and has familiar file operations as well as options allowing a user to share files. Basic Account holders get 50 GB of free storage, which is accessible through the web interface. Additional storage and services like multiple connections, FTP with timestamp support, WebDAV, and file history recovery are available through paid subscription plans [2]

ADrive Desktop

In February 2009, the company launched the ADrive Desktop product [3], which uses Adobe Integrated Runtime and is compatible with Windows, Linux and Mac operating systems, and provides an option for paid subscribers to upload, download, and schedule file backups.
